'United Fund Helps Everyone,' Workers Told

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
City Editor

Who is helped by the United Fund? Is it always "just the other guy" or everyone?

That question was put to workers in two kick-off training sessions, the second and final orientation at 10 a.m. today, and dramatically answered visually and verbally so that fund solicitors may be more effective this year in raising a record high goal of $110,000 in Navarro County, $7,000 more than last year.

The initial training session was conducted at 4 p.m. Wednesday and repeated again today in the Sky Room of First National Bank by Campaign Chairman Bob Potts.

For those who are calling on businessmen at their office desks, workers on the job and harried housewives in the door, the campaign workers—seeking donations to support the work of 15 UF agencies—have to have the "answers" to many questions they will be asked, and toward that end, two tools were introduced to the campaigners.

One is the updated Fact Book that thumbnails each agency drawing financial support from the "United Way" campaign and the other is a new narrated color slide presentation, "The Other Guy," that asks in the intro,—"Who is helped?" It could and frequently is the "other guy," but it could well be "even you or I," says the presentation.

Over and over during the next few weeks, this production will be screened for as many groups as possible to tell the story of how the United Fund through 15 agencies works and serves Navarro County because people care for others.

As this year's campaign chairman, Rev. Potts is not shy about proclaiming the need or his belief that it is a human responsibility to resolve the needs of Corsicana.

"I'm proud of the United Fund," Rev. Potts asserted. "I don't think we need to be ashamed to ask anyone to support it or hesitant to walk up to anyone or siddle up to anyone's door.

As workers, the campaign leader told the assembly of division chairmen and campaigners, "you have got to go eyeball to eyeball—it takes more time this way, but it is well worth it."

He was making the point that it is "easier" for a worker to call a prospect on the telephone and tell him United Fund time is here again and ask for a gift, which may or may not be obtained; but at the same time it is "easier" for the prospect to refuse or quickly proffer a smaller sum.

Rev. Potts stressed that $120,000 is really needed just to stand still due to inflation, yet this year's goal of $110,000 is only a six per cent increase over last year's $103,000 campaign.

He reminded that from 1967 to 1970, the UF budget remained relatively constant at $100,000, yet during that time there had been increased demands for services provided by the agencies and last year it became necessary to increase this to $103,000.

"Is all the money really needed?" he asked, aware that this is one of the first questions that will confront workers in asking for donations. Rev. Potts answered, "It is," and directed workers' attention to this question along with many others in the Fact Book.

With the assistance of executive directors or board representatives, the increases allotted in this year's budget were cited to the kick-off training session.

They include $3,000 more this year for the Boy Scouts to help finance a full time executive to broaden the outreach of Scouting to serve 600 members; $500 more for Camp Fire Girls to help form new units and upgrade the camping program; $1,250 more for Family Service to be used primarily in its medical assistance program with the observation the agency's case load rose from 2,400 to 3,100 in 1971; $1,000 more for Red Cross to increased training in first aid, water safety, home nursing and literature to bring more county school youth into Red Cross service awareness; $2,000 more for Salvation Army primarily for expanding its youth service program; and $500 as a token appropriation for the newest agency to become a member of the United Fund family, the Family Consultation Center, which focuses service programs on mental health.

Vice President Abe Stroud recalled the original concept of organizing a United Fund was to have a combined effort of all drives in the community in one campaign to spare everyone from having to be solicited over and over and workers such as those in this endeavor called on in a multiplicity of separate campaigns to go out again and again.

This has not been possible for many reasons, he said, but has consolidated many campaigns in one and is continually striving to consolidate those which can meet the criteria.

Stroud pointed out that many agencies have sacrificed larger amounts they possibly could have recruited in their own interest by holding a separate campaign apart, but had joined in the movement to do things the "united way" in the best overall interest of the county.

"Admittedly, the united way is not perfect," Chairman Potts acknowledged, "and the reason is, it is run by human beings, but it is the best way that has been conceived so far."

Following showing of the slide presentation and distribution of Fact Books and campaign materials, Vice President Pete Breithaupt explained how pledge cards should be filled out, emphasizing "get a pledge and get the card signed—they can pay it out any way they want, by the month, quarter or year, or by check, bank draft or cash."

Breithaupt stressed that actually it will be necessary to raise more than $110,000 just to meet the goal due to the shrinkage experience over the years has shown will occur. This is estimated to be $1,500 and will result from deaths of those who pledge, people moving away, and in other instances of "people just not paying all they pledged."

Campaign leaders were introduced to the training meeting along with executive directors of agencies on hand. Campaign personnel presented were Breithaupt, a co-chairman with Don Marett of Chapter Plan; Herb Johnson, Gold Card division; James Eliot, General Employes; Tom Boyd, General Management; W.D. Wyatt, Postal Solicitation; Mrs. J.D. Sheppard, Residential; Dr. Scott Middleton, Professional; and David Helmer, Public-Civic.

Getting the UF Facts

Public Works Director Quits

Dick Ballenger, Corsicana's director of public works since March 15, has resigned effective Oct. 1 to accept a similar position with the City of McKinney.

City Manager Jack Russell announced late Friday afternoon that Ballenger had submitted his resignation "to accept a much better job with McKinney as their director of public works."

"Ballenger has done a good job for Corsicana, and we certainly have benefitted by his tenure here," Russell said.

Shortly after Russell came to Corsicana as city manager from North Richland Hills, he recruited Ballenger for the newly created position of director of public works in a restructuring of the city's personnel organization.

With the resignation coming unexpectedly, Russell said it is too soon to determine whether the vacancy will be filled by promoting someone within the department or going outside Corsicana for a replacement.

"We will evaluate the situation, seeking the best solution," he added.

Students To Study Citizen Role in Government

A first-hand lesson in a study of the role of the citizen and respect for the law will be offered to about 60 students Friday and 50 Monday when they will be given a tour of the Navarro County Courthouse and the county jail, according to their instructor, Miss Linda Green.

The tour will be conducted by Assistant District Attorney Rob Dunn, who will give a lecture in one of the courtrooms after the students have seen the facilities.

Miss Green said the tour is part of the students' occupational orientation studies.

The first group of students will meet at the county jail parking lot at 8:30 a.m. Friday and a second group will meet at the lot for a tour at 10:20 a.m.. The group meeting Monday will also start from the jail parking lot.

County Court Notes Tax Roll Increase

Navarro County Commissioners reconvened in the commissioners' courtroom Tuesday morning, where County Judge Kenneth Douglas announced that the latest figures show that the estimated 1972 tax roll will be $56 million.

"This is about a $3 million increase over the 1971 tax roll," Douglas said. He noted that the figure he quoted was only an estimate figure and may vary somewhat.

The commissioners recessed at 11:10 a.m. to reconvene at 1:30 p.m. today.

Five Named To Grand Jury Commission

A court appointment was filed in the office of 13th District Clerk C.O. "Bud" Currington Wednesday naming four men and one woman as grand jury commissioners for the Oct., 1972, term. The commissioners are scheduled to appear in the district courtroom at 9 a.m. Wednesday to select a grand jury panel for the Oct. term of the district court.

The five commissioners are Jerome Vacek, 2400 Dobbins Circle, Corsicana; Leonard Tanner, Dawson; E.C. Watson, Kerens; Allen Swift, 1206 E. 6th Ave., Corsicana; and Mrs. Pauline McDaniel, Richland.

Currington said the commissioners will each provide District Judge James C. Sewell with a list of four names of residents of Navarro County to be on the panel. The 20 names provided by the commissioners will be reviewed by the district judge, who will select 12 people to serve on the grand jury.

Another order filed Wednesday with the office was for Navarro County Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse and the district clerk to draw, from the jury wheel, jury lists for nine jury weeks with each jury list containing 100 names. The order calls for the names to be selected today.

Annual Financial Statement Approved

NJC Costs, State Aid Go Up

By ROB MECKEL
Sun Staff Writer

The cost of operating a college through the years has risen with the higher cost of living and a need for more modern equipment for a greater variety of courses offered. Another trend during the past couple of decades has been toward more state financial support for these institutions.

A yearly financial statement approved during the Monday meeting of the Navarro Junior College Board of Trustees shows that state funds amount to over one-half of the yearly receipts in the general fund.

NJC Enrollment Down

"As of right now, we have 1,000 students enrolled, Jones told members of the NJC Board of Trustees during a meeting at the administration building Monday afternoon. He said last year at this same time there were 1,119 students enrolled.

Jones said enrollment during the 1971-72 school year was 1,733 students. This included 1,396 students enrolled in regular credit courses and 337 taking community service courses.

Jones explained that census figures from the Texas Almanac show that the population of the primary service area from which most NJC students come has decreased during the past 20 years. He said that during 1950 there were 126,508 people in this area which includes Ellis, Freestone, Limestone and Navarro Counties. In 1960 the figure went down to 110,756, and the figure for 1970, he said, was 107,004.

One of the reasons given for the loss of enrollment was that there is now less chance of young men being drafted, and students are not going to college to get student deferments.

The general fund statement ends the fiscal year on Aug. 31 with a $0 balance and $17,467.84 in certificates of deposit due Monday. More income was received than projected in the original budget and expenditures were also higher. The budget was for $1,315,000 but receipts during the fiscal year were $1,374,971.14.

The statement shows that state appropriations for the period were $661,875, and state reimbursements were $169,545.97. Other receipts during the year included $1,323.15 from federal funds: $172,809.01 from taxes; $172,809.01 from tuition and fees; $34,620.25 from miscellaneous and car registration; $7,764.75 from the student aid fund; $52,746.96 from dormitory rent; and $55,005.25 from plant funds.

In the general fund, salary expenditures totaled $166,968.45 for the general administration and student services account.

A total of $422,153.97 was paid under the general academic courses account for salaries. Salary costs in other accounts were as follows: vocational technical courses, $164,371.24; library, $37,516; plant operation and maintenance, $91,375.85; and auxiliary services, $5,533.60.

Also listed as disbursements are capital outlay of $51,207.11; revenue bonds, $69,890; state scholarship fund, $7,978: and general contingencies, $21,953.55.

In the interest and sinking fund financial statement, the balance ending the fiscal period is $9,802.88. Total receipts were $119,550.65 and total disbursements were $109,747.77. Listed under investments is a certificate of deposit due July 3, 1973 in amount of $110,000.

In the revenue interest and sinking fund, total receipts were $112,527.01 and disbursements were $69,285.23, leaving a balance of $43,241.78. Investments include a revenue reserve fund account of $60,347.99.

In the plant upkeep and improvement fund, receipts were $58,215.27, and disbursements were $56,660.27, leaving a balance of $1,555. Investments include $1,000 in U.S. savings bonds.

Total receipts in the athletic fund were $34,891.48 and total disbursements were the same amount leaving a $0 balance at the end of the fiscal year.

The college cafeteria fund total receipts of $83,335.45, plus the beginning balance of $1,463.02 listed total cash receipts of $84,798.47. Total disbursements were $80,973.71, leaving a balance of $3,824.76.

The student activity fund total receipts of $105,239.33, plus the $32,765.40 beginning balance left a total cash figure of $138,004.73. Total disbursements were $105,726.27, leaving a balance of $32,278.46.

Fund Drive Begins To Pay Hospital Costs for Baby

A fund-raising drive to help defray hospital and medical expenses of a Corsicana couple whose five-week-old baby required surgery shortly after it was born with a closed esophagus has begun in Corsicana, according to the Rev. Peter Cash of the Evangel Temple in Corsicana.

The baby, Elliott Ernest Livingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Livingston of 2604 W. 8th Ave., was born with a closed esophagus and an extra tube running out of the esophagus to one of the lungs. Shortly after birth, the baby was rushed to Childrens' Medical Center in Dallas, where surgery was performed to open the closed esophagus and block off the other tube.

Little Elliott remained in intensive care at the hospital three weeks before he was brought to Memorial Hospital in Corsicana. Late last week, two blood donors provided blood which was needed by the baby to compensate for blood it had lost. He had to be taken back to Dallas for additional surgery on Sept. 6.

The baby is still at Memorial Hospital and appears to be in better condition than a couple of weeks ago, according to Mrs. Livingston.

The infant's father, 28, is employed by a local building contractor.

Mrs. Acock Files For Tax-Assessor

Mrs. B.J. (Alice) Acock is the first to file as a candidate for the Nov. 14 special election to fill the vacancy in the Corsicana City Tax Assessor-Collector's office.

Mrs. Acock, a former deputy in the Navarro County Tax Office, is employed by the Navarro County Action Committee. She was one of four candidates for the city office won by the late Charles (Jakie) Pugh in the 1971 city election.

She has been a resident of Corsicana 49 years.

Mrs. Acock filed her candidacy Friday with City Secretary Nelda Neal, who announced that although the ordinance calling the special election has only received preliminary approval and must be passed on second reading Sept. 19, her office is accepting applications for the ballot.

Police Department Applies for Grant

Corsicana Police Department has applied for a $9,000 grant from the Texas Criminal Justice Council to carry out a Planned Operation Survey as part of a law enforcement staff study, Chief Don Massey announced.

Actually, Massey said, the department has filed applications seeking three funding grants, the other two being one for $8,000 for technical equipment and one for $12,000 for portable crime sensing and a burglary detection system, but is stressing in applying that Corsicana regards the staff study survey to have the highest priority of the three.

The department's application for 75 per cent federal and 10 percent state funding through Criminal Justice Council grants is sought to make possible a staff study to enable the police department to utilize its personnel and "recommend to us the immediate needs and specific equipment for improvements within our department.

The objective of the project, as recognized in the state plan is to produce a recommended model of organization, management and operation for the Corsicana Police Department as the result of a comprehensive survey conducted by qualified consultants.

Massey's application, approved by the city manager, pledges that recommendations from consultants will be implemented in order to meet the ever increasing demands for improvements within the law enforcement system.

In seeking the grant, Corsicana's application notes no comprehensive management survey or staff study has been made of the department since the formation of the police department in the late 1800s.

Noting substantial changes undergone in law enforcement over recent years, the application stresses the organizational structure of the Corsicana police department "is no longer able to effectively operate under these changes and additional demands.

"Our department has a pressing need," Massey states in the application, "to update law enforcement management procedures to more effectively cope with the criminal element. So that our police department may grow to meet the ever changing law enforcement needs of the city, we wish to engage the services of a professional consulting firm to analyze the organization, operation and administration ... and where applicable, present recommendations for improvement."

The grant is proposed to cover a 12-month period beginning Jan. 1 with the city contributing "in-kind" services amounting to no less than 15 per cent of the projected cost of the study. This would entail "in-kind" utilization of the consultant services of various members of the police department, city manager, personnel director and other municipal staff employes.

★★★ Aunt Louise ★★★

Sometimes I think all people who fish are kin. They instinctively recognize each other, trust each other and each knows the elated feeling one gets when they get a chance to try their luck. Millions of dollars are spent each year on fishing equipment but whether one is taking a cane pole and heading for a tank or expensive gear and going to a fishing resort they all have the same idea that they just KNOW they will bring back a BATCH.

When Will Hashop, Walter Earl Parker and Louis Haynie left Corsicana for the Gulf Coast you can bet your last minnow or shrimp they thought they'd bring back a boat load of trout.

ROTTEN LUCK:

They had fun driving down and arrived at Seagun Marina near Rockport about 8:00 p.m. or just before dark. Everything was in order, boat was loaded and the water looked fine. They set out for Cedar Bayou Pass between Matagorda and St. Joseph, a distance of about twenty miles. When they were about four and one-half miles out in the water they noticed that the back end of the boat was filling with water. Almost instantly a big wave came and flipped the boat over! WOW! No one got excited as they all had their life jackets on. Too, they had three foam chest ice boxes with bait, food, water etc., that they could hold on to as they float easily, fact is, they held on to them during the ordeal. A few boats could be heard passing occasionally, how near they were they couldn't tell in the dark, and the men would yell for help. Not one person stopped to rescue them but they later learned that they did notify the Coast Guard.

Lady Luck smiled on them anyway as the wind floated them to Goose Palace State Park. Walter's watch had stopped at twenty minutes until nine o'clock and they were on land at ten minutes after twelve so they were in the water about three hours. (Wonder what they talked about??).

The next morning four Texas State Park Rangers, Russell Johnson, Mickey Frimyer, Willie Navarro and Pete C. Ramerez Jr. came to help them. They said that they were really four great fellows taking about one and one-half hours to get over a reef. Everything was brought ashore with the exception of fishing tackle and equipment, sleeping cots and groceries. Just could be these three lost some sleep too. Smile.

Mrs. Odell Taylor who works at the J.C. Penny Store downtown called me the other night and said every time she read my column that she wished she had a fish story to write. She went on to say that she didn't have a fish story but she did have a new grandson who weighed in at a little above average. Her son, Don E. Taylor and his wife, the former Betty Jean Bennett, are the proud parents of David Allen born at 12:56 a.m. Wednesday morning at Memorial Hospital. He weighed eleven pounds and thirteen ounces. He is also welcomed by his six and one-half year old sister LaDona Taylor.

How about a card shower for Mrs. Donald Borsellino who is in Baylor Hospital in Dallas recovering from surgery. Her room number is 4212.

Do something kind today and make someone happy. Make me happy and WRITE! 'See you in Thursday's Daily Sun.

When the boss asked me to appear at the HARVEST HOEDOWN at the State National Bank Building parking lot Saturday (2:30-6:00 p.m.) I tried my very best to get out of it. Smile. Bill Baldwin came in and said, "Oh, Aunt Louise, we want you and the people want to see you too."

So, they won. Join us, won't you please? Everyone in these here parts knows the talented Golden Circle Westerners, Bill Baldwin, Charles Nanny, Bob Wetsel, William Putman, Don Franks and Hudine Sikes, PLUS Randy Blue and Dayton Tanner. The square dancers include some very well known people, you'll see! You are in for a BIG SURPRISE PACKAGE, GREAT ENTERTAINMENT, and it is al FREE provided through the courtesy of some twelve DOWNTOWN MERCHANTS.

I received through the mail a picture of the 1925 Tiger Football Team. The sender did not include his name or address, didn't write a word. Kit Bauman, our Sports Editor, was excited to get the picture. What I am wondering as it is quite old, do you want it returned? Seems to me that one would cherish owning it. Did you give it to me?

Mrs. John Nolen will celebrate her 90th birthday on September 23rd. Next Sunday September 17 to observe the occasion she is being honored with open house at the Bible Chair at Navarro Junior College from 3:00-5:00 p.m. by her children, Lawerence Nolen of Arlington, Lois Freeman and Laura Carl of Corsicana and Lillie B. Webb of Waco. All her friends are invited by to greet her at this time.

Mrs. Nolen, who operated a dining hall in Corsicana for about fifteen years, now pieces quilts and quilts them for her friends and also enjoys playing 84.

Congratulations on your birthday! Wish I could come play 84 with you as I just LOVE to play.

Hope to see you at the HARVEST HOEDOWN ON Saturday.

Malakoff City Council Revises Ordinance on Service Fee Bills

By JIM BUSH
Golden Circle Reporter

MALAKOFF—The Malakoff City Council passed an ordinance Monday night which will require a separate garbage pickup and sewage service fee for each individual house or place of business.

The ordinance, which makes it a misdemeanor to fail to pay the fee, goes into effect immediately. The ordinance was passed because several houses in town are hooked onto one sewer line and are only paying as one unit. There are also instances of several families paying only one garbage pickup fee, according to the Council.

In other business, the council decided to purchase a police car from Inmon Ford for $3,860.

The Council also decided to remove the lights and radar equipment from the old police car to be transferred to the new one. The radio will either be left in the car or sold separately, because Malakoff is switching to a higher frequency. Bids will be taken on the old car.

A letter from the Texas Water Quality Board read before the Council advised that the city's waste treatment plant is overloaded and asked the city to get engineering advice and to then submit plans to TWQB for imrpoving the sewage treatment.

The council discussed the possibility of getting a federal grant to help in updating sewage facilities.

Malakoff resident Walter Jackson complained that water drainage around the Church of Christ building next to his property at Martin and Collins was not properly designed. The man feared a heavy rain could not be handled, because there is no way for the water to run off.

The council appointed water Supt. Linder McLain to contact Church Member Lee Garrisor and discuss with him the possibilities of properly preparing the drainage system o the property.

Bills were accepted as read

All-Girl Rodeo Slated

A rodeo is coming to Corsicana Saturday night, complete with the thrills of bareback bronc and bull riding, plus all the side attractions. But this one's different...all girls.

It looks like Women's Lib has finally broken into the rodeo circuit.

The all-female event begins Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the Central Texas Quarter Horse Association's arena just west of the new Corsicana High School. Entry books open Friday at 10 a.m. and remain open until 6 p.m. the same day. Rodeo headquarters is Green's Western Wear in Corsicana (phone 874-4891).

The talent lined up for Saturday's riding events guarantees an exciting rodeo for everyone, according to backers. Top female competitors from across the state and Oklahoma will meet to match talent against each other and against the tough, "full of pep" bucking stock provided by The Double J Rodeo Ranch of Wills Point.

Sheila Bussey of Longview, who is the currently leading all around contestant in all five rodeo events, will be here to show local cowboys how it's done. Brenda Andrews, a recent high money winner at a midwest rodeo, will also be on hand.

Sue Pirtle, an Oklahoma calf roper who won that state's champion roping and barrel race events several times in previous seasons, will swing her loop at some of the tricky Texas calves. Jerry Morrison, a bank cashier from Stonewall, Okla., plans to trailer her top barrel racing horse to Corsicana to try her luck.

From Terrell will be little bull rider Becky Swallow, a recent top money winner at one of the Double L Rodeo Company's all-girl events.

Diane Hagler of Kaufman will serve double duty, keeping the audience laughing with her clowning antics and—most important to contestants—she will see that the bull-versus-rider competition ends once the rider has parted company with the animal's back. A little comedy bull fighting can also be expected.

Entry fee for all the events is $10.. An extra $100 has been added as prize money for winning bull and bareback bronc riders, and $50 extra has been added to the tie down calf roping, ribbon roping and championship barrel racing pots.

Admission will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for youngsters.

Streetman Grad Selected for Top Teaching Award

Dr. James Leslie McCary, a graduate of the 1935 class of Streetman High School, has been awarded the 1972 top teaching award for the nation's 60,000 psychologists.

McCary, a professor of psychology at the University of Houston, was cited at the annual meeting of the American Psychological Association held Sept. 1-8 in Honolulu for having made the "outstanding contribution to education and psychology." He received an all-expense paid trip to the Hawaiian meeting and $2,000 to be used for improvement of psychology teaching at the University of Houston.

In the past, McCary has earned the President's Distinguished Teacher's Award and in 1971 was presented The Millie Stevens Piper Award—Texas' highest award for college teachers.

McCary has served as president of the Houston Psychological Association and the Texas Psychological Association. He is internationally known as a leader in sex education and the author of 11 books, including "Human Sexuality" and "Sexual Myths and Fallacies."

Superintendent Answers Charges On Grove Voting

BLOOMING GROVE—Superintendent of Blooming Grove Schools Lance Graham says a lot of the charges being made by Mrs. Irene Lusk and others contesting the recent $200,000 school bond election have nothing to do with the election itself.

"What does furniture placement in the school have to do with the legality of the election?" he asked, referring to claims made by those contesting the election, who say the school purchased several desks to take care of the additional Rice students. Only high school students from Rice are attending school in Blooming Grove, and Graham says the desks—which were purchased a little over a year ago—are being used only in elementary classes.

"If they are going to challenge the legality of the election, they should go ahead and do that without all the other charges," Graham stated. He said he didn't see how the matter of Rice students attending school in Blooming Grove had anything to do with the election itself. "We receive all their (Rice's) state moneys for transfer here," he emphasized.

Graham also said it was not true that Blooming Grove School Board President Boyd Bryant had given Mrs. Lusk permission to see the election returns, as the woman had indicated. Bryant told Mrs. Lusk she would have to get the proper papers before receiving the information she asked for, according to Graham.

No further information was available at this time from those contesting the election.

According to superintendent Graham, the caption—"Checking the Ballots"—of the photograph which ran in Sunday's Daily Sun with the story entitled "Blooming Grove Election Contested," was incorrect. Graham said the three persons were not checking the ballots, as The Daily Sun was told, but rather property owners' affidavits.

County Extension Service Begins Membership Drive

The Navarro County Extension Service begins its "Annual Membership Drive" for home economics programs this week, according to County Home Demonstration Agent Tressie Langston.

Six home demonstration clubs are in operation in Navarro County and have 102 members.

Persons who are interested in joining the home demonstration clubs in their area may contact the following, Elm Flat HDC, Mrs. Vashtie Yarbough, Rt. 2, Kerens; Kerens HDC, Mrs. Lonnie Strange, Rt. 1, Kerens; Goodlow Park, HDC, Mrs. Willie Thompson, Rt. 2, Kerens; Corsicana Tressie HDC, Mrs. Martha Andrews, 401 N. 2nd St., Pelham HDC, Mrs. Lizzie Williams, Rt. 1, Frost; and Emhouse HDC, Mrs. A.M. Shows, Rt. 1, Corsicana.

"When swamped with family living problems, you can always count to 10 and hope they vanish, or you can join a home demonstration club," Mrs. Langston said.

"Home demonstration clubs have no membership dues and are open to all homemakers who would like to learn better ways to tackle chores and improve both home and community life," she added.

The Extension Service sponsors the clubs as part of a statewide educational effort to bring the latest information to all families. Local clubs focus on the needs of homemakers in that particular county.

Members decide what their group will study and participate in discussions and community projects sponsored by the club. They also plan recreation and teaching lessons.

New information covers discovering what's new for the home and family and learning the "how's to's" of homemaking plus exploring what members are interested in. Information also comes from the educational and research resources of Texas A&M University, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and other universities and agencies.

Homemakers do not have to belong to a club to join learning activities. Short courses, workshops, tours, meetings in the area, precinct and count levels are open to the public.

Extension home economics study group is another informal organization. It offers programs in both single and multiple subject matter areas.

Rice Hunts Solution To City Tax Problem

RICE—The Rice City Council, acting on the problem of collecting city taxes, Thursday night appointed Councilman Dow Mahaley to contact tax assessor Hardy Mayo of Kerens or Dick Parker of Corsicana to determine the value of various lots in town.

According to the council, there are a number of lots in Rice which have not been properly taxed or have not been taxed at all. A four-man equalization board appointed to assess values on the land reported they did not feel qualified to do so and asked for professional help.

City Marshal Grady McCall told the council he is buying a new high-frequency radio of the type police in Corsicana and several other area towns have. McCall said he needs the radio to keep in touch with Corsicana and other towns with the high-frequency equipment and is buying the unit "with my own money."

McCall said the council can purchase a second radio if they desire and probably get it now at a reduced rate. The council, however, did not agree to make the purchase.

Trailways Tells 60 Day Ticket Plan

Continental Trailways, through its Corsicana terminal, has announced a new nationwide circle tour ticket, "Eaglepass", to be used in conjunction with the domestic bus industry's publication of a special $149.50 tariff, effective September 15th. The tariff permits travel on the lines of Continental Trailways and other major intercity bus carriers for a maximum period of 60 days from date of sale. Final travel date permitted is May 31, 1973.

G.G. Rountree, Continental Trailways' executive vice president, said this new 60-day fare will be intensively promoted, both with travel agents and at the retail level, to stimulate off-season travel of senior citizens and others with leisure time. He emphasized that the "Eaglepass" ticket is designed to permit easy handling of day-to-day travel plans. "Some clients will no doubt want us to arrange their entire trip, including accommodations and sightseeing", he stated, "but the special ticket form is made to order for the client who wants to retain the flexibility of en route travel decisions permitted under the tariff".

The "Eaglepass" ticket will be in book form, with 14 coupons for point-to-point travel. It will contain a list of approximately 100 Continental Trailways offices from which additional coupons may be secured by the passenger as needed, as well as professional assistance with their travel plans.

Hervey, Goins Give Low Bids

Navarro County Commissioners met briefly in the commission courtroom this morning to open bids for "one or more" cars for the Sheriff's Department and "one or more" half-ton pickup trucks to be used by county commissioners. After discussion, the commissioners moved to take the bids under consideration.

Pct. 2, Comm. Arlon Simmons opened the bids in the absence of County Judge Kenneth Douglas, who is a panelist on matters relating to councils of government and counties at the Seventh Annual Governor's Workshop on Intergovernmental Relations and Regional Planning. The conference began Sunday and ends Tuesday.

Low bid for the Sheriff Department cars was Hervey Motors with a bid of $3,289 for a Plymouth four-door sedan. This and other bids for cars were according to police car specifications. Other bids included: $3,355 for a Chevrolet sedan from Tom White Chevrolet; and $3,394 for a Ford sedan from Goins-Weatherby Ford Company.

Low bid for the pickup truck advertisement was Goins-Weatherby with $2,678. The Tom White Chevy firm bid $2,920 and the Hervey Motors bid offering a GMC vehicle was $3,075.

Patrolman Fisher said the driver advised he had just got off work at Chattanooga Glass plant and was en route home when he veered off the roadway, causing extensive damage to the right front of his 1970 Pontiac. The car did not overturn.

NJC Gets Accreditation Report

By ROB MECKEL
Sun Staff Writer

Navarro Junior College Board of Trustees Monday afternoon heard Roger Victory, chairman of the NJC business department, report on plans which have been instituted in preparation for the 1974 visit by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, an accrediting agency for universities, colleges and secondary schools in the South and Southwest.

College President Ben Jones said after the meeting that the self-study evaluation and accrediting by the SACS is important because it makes transfer of credits to other colleges and universities automatic.

Victory gave the trustees a list of people who would be on the steering committee for self-study evaluation of the college. The committee will compile information and submit it to the SACS for study before the evaluators come on campus. Steering committee members include Victory as chairman; McAfee Daniel, vice chairman; Marvin Ray, secretary and Editor; Bob Gaines; and Guy Pollock.

Nine committees on standards will have the duty of evaluating various aspects of the college in which the evaluators will be interested.

The self-study reports are to be completed on or before Sept. 1, 1973, and compiled as a report to be submitted to the SACS about a month before the evaluators visit the campus for three days of observation and investigation in the spring of 1974.

In other NJC board business, the trustees voted in favor of purchasing educational idemnity insurance which will cover board members up to $1 million. The policy will have a $1,000 deductible clause and according to Jones, it is "for protection against possible law suits we hear about from time to time." Jones said he has received a bid from the firm of McCall, Hibler and Allen of Austin, and is expecting to receive a bid from the Cooper, Eady and Judson firm of Corsicana. Tom Eady, a member of the latter firm, is past president of the NJC Board of Trustees. The board voted to accept the lower of the two bids.

The NJC financial statement for the period Sept. 1, 1971 through Aug. 31, 1972 shows that the college ended the period receiving a total of $1,373,971.14, and total disbursements were in the same amount, leaving a $0 balance ending. Investments listed in the general fund include a certificate of deposit due Sept. 18 in amount of $17,467.84.

Total accounts payable for the month of August was $137,692.24.

Four Policemen Hired

Four new officers have been hired in the Corsicana Police Department with one already undergoing on-the-job training and three to begin Oct. 1, start of the city's new budget year, Police Chief Don Massey announced Wednesday.

Although his regulation uniform won't be delivered for another two weeks or so, Ronnie Brewer, 22, 1440 W. 1st Ave., has begun riding a patrol car in training on the 3-11 p.m. shift with Sgt. Melvin Byrd, shift commander, or Capt. David Garrett, radio patrol division commander, until assigned to a specific tour. Brewer, who is married, scored highest, 105, on the civil service examination taken by all applicants for the four positions being filled, Chief Massey related.

He is the first student graduated from NJC with a two-year associate degree in law enforcement to be employed in the police department.

Massey said of the other three who begin work Oct. 1, one has an associate degree in law enforcement, another is a Fort Worth police officer and graduate of that city's police department training academy and the third man has a year of college with 30 hours college credit.

Harold Andrews, 22, 601 E. 13th Ave., who scored high on the examination, has a year of college behind him. He was recently married.

Buford Wayne Herring, 24, Tyler, is married with one child. He holds a two-year associate degree in law enforcement from Tyler Junior College.

Coming here from Fort Worth will be Michael Jay Hardy, 26, a three-year veteran of the Fort Worth Police Department and graduate of that department's training academy.

Massey noted that Hardy has a year of college and holds an Intermediate Certificate from the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education.

Texas now requires persons going into law enforcement to be certified as to compentency by formal training with a Basic Certificate mandatory. Intermediate and Advance Certificates signify additional educational pursuits and training beyond the minimum requirements.

Chief Massey appraised the new officer-designates "as the best qualified group by educational training backgound we have hired in the department, and I am proud to recruit men of this caliber".

The city more than a year ago approved Massey's request to increase the department's strength by four officers, but funding is just now being provided in the 1972-73 department budget.

WHITE MINORITY

DALLAS — An analysis of current enrollment trends in Dallas public schools shows white pupils will be in the minority in 1973, if the trends continue.

Teague Extends Sewage Charge to City Hospital

TEAGUE—A motion was passed by the Teague City Council Tuesday to charge a $50 monthly sewage service fee to the city hospital. The city's nursing home will face a similar fee as soon as a proper evaluation of the establishment's sewage usage can be made.

Bills totaling $65,778.46 were allowed payable as read.

Joe Spruiell sent a request to the council for permission to restrict parking in front of his house so that the space would be available to customers of his wife's beauty shop, which is operated in the home.

The council, however, decided it would not be fair to allow such a restriction on parking, because there are other similar home businesses in Teague which would also deserve such a zoning.

The council also examined a drawing which showed the design of the new fire station and some tentative plans for a library and rearrangement of office space. Construction of the fire station is being sponsored by the Rotary Club of Teague.

Police Investigate Woman's Shooting

Corsicana police were continuing Wednesday an investigation into the wounding of Shirley Elaine York, 23, who was found by her husband shot in her home at 514 N. Commerce St. 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. York was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a neck wound from a .22 rifle and is listed by the hospital today as "improved but still in serious condition."

Robert York told Police Capt. Fred Gray he heard a gunshot and burst into a bedroom to find his wife on the bed bleeding profusely at the neck and a rifle nearby on the floor.

Kerens resident Homer Carroll asked that street improvements be made in his addition of town, but the matter was postponed until a later date.

A representative from Gulf United Telephone Company asked that a renewal contract be granted to his company. This business was also postponed.

Common Market Acts on Money, Against Terrorism

FRASCATI, Italy (AP) — Ten West European governments acted on Tuesday to put down political terrorism and to step up a European monetary fund. Both actions were steps toward unity of the new Common Market.

The guns and grenades of the Arab terrorists at the Munich Olympic Games brought the issue of terrorism to the fore. Ministers of finance and foreign affairs of the 10 governments decided unanimously to take a joint stand in the United Nations against terrorists, and tighten cooperation among their own security forces.

The new monetary fund will start operations next year as the forerunner of an integrated central bank for the 10 countries with a common currency to challenge the dominance of the U.S. dollar on world markets.

Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann and Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France both spoke in the final session of the two-day meeting at the 400-year-old Aldobrandini villa outside Rome. They were reported to have said they saw sufficient progress to hold a scheduled summit meeting of the 10 countries in Paris on Oct. 19.

President Georges Pompidou of France is due to make the final decision on the summit at a Cabinet meeting on Friday.

The ministers also decided to hold another meeting Oct. 20-31 to take joint action against inflation.

Both Giscard d'Estaing and West German Finance Minister Helmut Schmidt proposed joint action to curb recent spectacular price rises in Western Europe. Giscard d'Estaing suggested percentage limits be set for price increases. Schmidt says he wants to limit the expansion of credits.

U.S. Jet, 3 MIGs Shot Down

SAIGON (AP) — Three North Vietnamese MIGs and a U.S. Phantom were shot down Monday and Tuesday north and west of Hanoi, and the total American airmen reported missing in the new bombing campaign against North Vietnam reached 100, the U.S. Command announced today.

The three MIG 21s were downed Tuesday by F4 Phantoms, America's fastest fighters. It was the first time since May 10 that American pilots shot down three enemy interceptors in one day, the 7th Air Force said.

While spokesmen said the American fighters came away from Tuesday's dog fights with out a loss, they reported that a MIG downed a Phantom 48 miles northeast of Hanoi Monday.

The Phantom's two crewmen were missing, raising to 100 the number of American airmen listed as missing over North Vietnam since the enemy offensive began March 30, the U.S. Command said. Thirty-seven of these have been reported captured.

The full-scale bombing of the North Vietnam was resumed on April 6 as a response to an invasion of South Vietnam by a Hanoi infantry divisions.

The F4 Phantom fighters were escorting Air Force attack planes on strikes in the Hanoi region when they encountered MIG interceptors.

The U.S. Command reported 310 strikes across North Vietnam Tuesday, many of them between Hanoi and the Chinese border.

Air Force and Navy jets attacked on the northwest and northeast rail lines to China for the second day and Air Force pilots said they destroyed a 105-foot bridge on the northwest line 65 miles above Hanoi. Another target hit for the first time was a repair and supply depot 45 miles north of Hanoi that serviced trucks moving supplies from the Chinese border.

Air Force pilots said they damaged two 5,000-gallon tanks and cut a pipeline in three places at the Lac Nam and Kep fuel depots 35 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Shriver Says 'Cultural Imperialism' Practiced

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Sargent Shriver said Tuesday night "a kind of cultural imperialism" has been practiced in the United States.

"We have tried to squash, to quell natural cultural instincts and heritages of a large number of people, among them the Spanish-speaking people," the Democratic vice presidential candidate said.

A crowd of more than 400 persons, most of them Spanish-surnamed, cheered and applauded loudly his remarks dealing with their culture.

"The time has come," said Shriver, "for a mature country to recognize the invaluable contribution that the Spanish-speaking people not only made to the beginning of the United States of America, but can make to the future" of the nation.

He said it is "sad to say that for a number of years without anybody's attention, we have practiced a kind of cultural imperialism in this country."

Shriver's remarks were made minutes before midnight at an El Paso International Airport rally.

Shriver met with local Democratic party leaders and candidates at a breakfast early today, and then went to a park to speak with workers on strike at a manufacturing plant.

His schedule called for him to go on today to Houston and San Antonio, Tex., and to wind up tonight in Miami, Fla.

Shriver told the airport crowd that President Nixon must "realize that education in this country is not only an education for Anglos but it is an education for all Americans."

He said, "It's an education which provides a bicultural and a bilingual education for the people."

"The crowd applauded this trouble stimulating local Chicano interest in them.

lier in the evening from Washington, D.C.

Shriver cited a near 3,000-mile campaign day with his El Paso speech before a crowd which had waited several hours for him.

He visited in Sacramento, Calif., Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash., before coming to El Paso.

statement.

Shriver said the education should be "with respect to cultural traditions of the people whether they speak Spanish, whether they're black, whether they're white, whether they're American Indians or whether they're Anglos from Europe."

Moreno said until "they do, they won't get the enthusiasm that has to be built. It is time to talk about these issues."

He said McGovern "is the man who can help the Chicano community the most."

High U.S. Corn Harvest Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Corn farmers are expected to harvest more than 5.1 billion bushels this fall, 8 per cent less than last year's record but 4 per cent more than Agriculture Department experts predicted in August.

The new estimate, announced Tuesday, would make the 1972 crop the second largest in history and go a long way in filling demand for livestock feed next winter as well as a growing export market for U.S. feed.

Kissinger Takes Extra Day To Talk in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger remained in Moscow today for an extra day of secret talks with Kremlin leaders before flying to London and Paris.

The U.S. Presidential adviser had been scheduled to spend today sightseeing in Leningrad. The U.S. Embassy announced Tuesday that Kissinger would continue his talks in Moscow until his departure for London Thursday.

No reason for the change was given and no information was provided on Kissinger's talks with the Russians, who presumably included Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev.

It was assumed that the war in Vietnam as well as European and Soviet-American issues were under discussion.

County Good Place for Arrowheads, Students Told

By SYLVIA A. WATERS
Sun Staff Writer

Navarro County was the location for 105 Indian camp sites, and 35 acres of the sites at Navarro Mills are now underwater. It is a good place to find arrowheads, Bill Young, Trinity Division General Portland Cement Company in Dallas, told a group of Corsicana High School students Tuesday morning.

Young, who has been interested in arrowheads for several years, was invited to speak to the CHS history classes by Robert Keathley as part of the outside speaker program at the school.

Young displayed several collection of arrowheads which are 3,000-4,000 years old.

The oldest arrowhead is one which is found from the Paleo period (6,500 B.C.), at which time hunting was characteristic of the period. During the Neo period (500-1,500 A.D.) is thought to be the invention of the bow and arrow. The Archaic period (6,000 B.C.-500 A.D.) is the period in which agriculture is thought to have begun. Arrowheads with a point are distinctive of this period, said Young.

One collection Young put on display was a series of bi-faced arrowheads popularly called "knives." These knives are thought to be 3,000 years old and are believed to have been used to cut meat by Indians.

"These types of arrowheads purchased through the mail are reproduced fakes and shiny," Young said. The genuine knife arrowheads are dull in color and in places shiny, he added.

Another type of arrowhead –a caddo—is found all over the Southeastern United States. Alto and Crockett are the biggest locations of these arrowheads.

The oldest "point arrowhead" in the world is called a Clovis, explained Young, and is approximately 10,000-17,000 years old.

Young passed around a clovis he found in Navarro County and said one similar to it was found in Dallas and thought to be 36,000 years old.

Young is a graduate of Corsicana High School and attended Navarro Junior College and Stephen F. Austin College. He is also a member of the Texas Archeological Society and works with the Southern Methodist University Geology Department.

Nixon Confers with Aides on Politics

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — As his campaign organization prepares a push to enlist disenchanted Democrats, President Nixon confers with White House aides at Camp David today on a range of domestic matters—including politics.

There were indications Nixon also would entertain Republican leaders and big campaign contributors with a dinner tonight at the mountaintop retreat. White House spokesmen said the dinner was "a possibility," but plans had not been completed when Nixon flew by helicopter Tuesday night to the Catoctin Mountain compound.

The President was accompanied by White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, and other advisers were expected to join him today.

Before leaving the White House, Nixon held a series of private political sessions with groups ranging from Cabinet officers to state campaign chairmen.

First, there was a three-hour breakfast with 39 guests, including such diverse advisers as Secretary of State William P. Rogers and campaign director Clark MacGregor.

MacGregor told the group in the State Dining Room of plans to send thousands of volunteers into the field Saturday to register new voters and conduct a canvass to identify Nixon supporters. Special targets of the effort are Democrats unhappy over their party's nomination of George McGovern.

The morning meeting was followed by a noon-time Oval Office chat with Walter J. Hickel, the former Alaska governor fired by Nixon as Interior secretary two years ago. Aides said Nixon wanted Hickel's views on the campaign.

Then, there was a late-afternoon reception for 200 Republican national committeemen.

$586 Million Bid for Oil Leases

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal review board convenes today to study high bids totaling $586 million offered by oilmen on 74 tracts of sea bottom off Louisiana's oil-rich coast.

A final decision on the bids was expected Thursday. Most of them will be accepted — giving a financial transfusion to South Louisiana's offshore drilling industry.

Offshore work has been in the doldrums since sales of offshore leases ran into a series of delays due to a series of massive oil spills and the resulting uproar over pollution.

The 74 tracts offered to eager bidders Tuesday were first scheduled for sale last Dec. 21 but a legal fight with anti-pollution groups delayed the event six months.

"The total of high bids was about what we expected," said John Rankinn head of the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management in New Orleans.

More than $4 billion worth of oil or gas is believed to lie under the tracts. They range from 5 to 50 miles off the coast, in water 20 to 480 feet deep. Most of the 366,782 acres is out past the 60-foot depth.

69 August Accidents Injure 15

Corsicana police investigated 69 accidents which resulted in personal injury to 15 persons during August; motorists involved were cited for 57 traffic offenses. At the same time, the monthly activities report released today by Chief Don Massey shows the department cleared seven of 29 burglaries and investigated 26 thefts.

Of the break-ins, 20 involved business houses with three solved, and nine involved burglaries of homes with four cases cleared. Three auto thefts were cleared with recovery of the stolen cars.

Police investigated nine felony thefts involving a loss of $690 in property, solving three crimes and recovering merchandise valued at $300. Nine misdemeanor thefts were investigated, including one from an auto. Police reported recovering four stolen bicycles during the month in which five were reported stolen.

Seven juveniles were handled by the department during the month.

Police made 66 arrests and issued 192 traffic citations during the month and collected $3,656.50 in traffic court and other court assessed fines and parking meter fines of $1,260.50 for total fine revenue of $4,917.

A breakdown on traffic citations included 86 speeding, 10 stop sign violations, 10 red light violations, 16 fail to yield, 7 improper passing, 1 improper turn, 3 defective muffler, 21 driving without license, 3 following too close, 6 driving while intoxicated, 15 improper start and 14 others not classified by category.

Arrests included 27 drunk, 1 burglary, 2 vagrancy, 4 theft, 1 disturbing the peace, 1 aggravated assault, 10 affray, 1 theft over $5, 1 court warrant and 7 others not classified by category.

GED with VA Benefits Approved for County

By ROB MECKEL
Sun Staff Writer

An educational program whereby veterans in Navarro County and surrounding counties can receive veterans educational financial benefits while working on their GED (general educational development) diploma, has been approved for the Navarro County Action Committee, according to NCAC Director Jerome Vacek.

The NCAC director was informed this week by E.W. Quinton, director of the state approval for veterans education in the Texas Education Agency, that the NCAC Adult Learning Center, 200 S. 7th St., has been approved to train veterans. The application was prepared by NCAC Manpower Planning Coordinator Guy Rushin.

Training allowance for participants studying full-time is as follows: no dependents—$175 per month; one dependent—$205 per month; and two dependents, $230 per month. For persons studying three-fourths time, the allowance is as follows: no dependents—$128; one dependent—$152; and two dependents, $177 per month.

The allowance for persons training one-half time is as follows: no dependents—$81; one dependent—$100; and two dependents—$177 per month.

In cases where participants have more than two dependents, an additional $13 can be received by the participant.

Vacek noted that the GED enrollment will not be charged against a veteran's regular earned training time.

He said that while in training at NCAC, veterans enrolled will be involved in vocational counseling toward future enrollment in post secondary academic and-or-vocational training.

He also said the TEA approval will not increase funds in the Adult Learning Center available to operate the GED program, but is designed to be of more direct encouragement to veterans enrolling in the GED program. He said any veteran or war orphan interested in the program should contact Walter L. Merrell at 214-872-2401 or at the learning center for more information.

Library Picture Lending Service To Be Enlarged

Delivery is anticipated this month by the Corsicana Public Library of 14 additions to its picture-lending library service, board members learned this week on resuming monthly meetings after a three-month summer recess. New paintings were authorized to be purchased last May.

Librarian Mary GoBell reported to the board that during the three summer months the library circulated its 49 pictures (reproductions of famous paintings) 87 times, evidencing the popularity of the service. A borrower may keep a picture on loan for a maximum of six weeks, and most keep the paintings for the maximum.

"It's been a real popular thing," Mrs. GoBell related, although still not too widely known by the general public.

During the three summer months, the library circulated 30,193 books, an increase from last summer's figure of 29,011 indicating increased use of the lending service. In her briefing, Mrs. GoBell related the Summer Story Hour, conducted each year every Wednesday June through August, was successful, reaching a large number of children.

The library continued through June a program staff members began in April of "carrying the library" to pre-school children at the city's day nurseries and day care centers demonstrating the pleasures of reading to encourage reading and introduce the library to the young.

The board was informed by Mrs. Will Miller, secretary, who heads the geneology section, that 237 people who used the geneology room this summer registered. A number of people use this facility, but not everyone registers although this is encouraged to gauge the interest and use being made of this section.

Hereafter, the library board will resume its regular meetings each month at 4 p.m. on the second Monday.

Lions Hear of 'Lionism'

Tom Kirkham, Waco Lions Club, spoke to members of the Corsicana Lions club on "Lionism" Tuesday.

"Lions clubs have the largest number of members of any service club. One should be proud to be a Lion," he said.

"LIONS stand for liberty, intelligence, our, nations, safety," Kirkham added.

The Corsicana Lions Club is the 30th Lions International Club to be organized. In 1917 the Corsicana Lions club was organized by O.M. Cunningham and the first president was J.A. Thompson.

Four thefts were investigated Wednesday and early Thursday by Corsicana police with one discovered by a complainant reporting a prowler at 1:30 a.m. today.

When Officers Clyde Pendergraph and Jeff Bryant arrived to check out a reported prowler at 932 Easy St., the occupant, Mrs. Barbara Tincher, missed a skill power saw from her husband's pickup truck. A brother staying overnight at the residence caught a glimpse of a suspect running from the vicinity.

Justice's Slow Decision Delays Start of School

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 30,000 Las Vegas children were shut out of their schools for a week while a desegregation ruling by Justice William O. Douglas made its slow way by mail from his summer retreat in Goose Prairie, Wash., to the Supreme Court.

Women Voters Begin Fund Drive

The annual fund-raising campaign for the Corsicana League of Women Voters is underway, according to Mrs. E.D. Criddle Jr., finance drive chairman, and approximately one-third of the organization's funds for the 1972-73 fiscal year has been raised through the response of business and professional men to advance letters requesting contributions.

League members will canvass other prospective contributors during the remainder of the month in their drive for funds needed to continue providing information and voter service to Corsicana.

Mrs. Mackey Harrell, League president, said the goal of organization is to "let the people know....make the people care....and to help the people to act." The League considers it more important than ever before that citizens be informed due to the national election in November, she said. The financial support of the community is needed if the League is to carry on its work effectively.

The non-partisan organization does not support or oppose candidates but publishers their answers to important questions. Its purpose is to encourage political responsibility through informed and active participation of people in government.

Voters guides have been ordered and will be distributed one week before the November election.
